

Emily Mustoe began her musical career in 2017 as a chorister at Worcester Cathedral. During this time, she has taken part in several Three Choirs Festivals, performing works such as The Dream of Gerontius and The Armed Man. Emily has travelled extensively throughout the West of England as both a chorister and recitalist, and has taken part in choir tours to Vernon, France. In 2019, she was selected to represent Worcester Cathedral in the Diamond Choir, raising money for the Diamond Chorister Fund. After completing her A-levels, Emily took up the post of Choral Scholar at St Edmundsbury Cathedral and a part time role as musician in residence and choral vocal coach at Bury St Edmunds' County Upper School. Emily currently studies singing with Bronwen Mills and will begin reading music at Oxford Brookes University next academic year. Outside of her studies, Emily enjoys reading, writing, and going on walks with her Jack Russell, Daisy.
