

Jessie is a second year MPhil in studying musicology at Lincoln College with a focus on voice studies and auditory perception. She studied music and psychology at Columbia University but spent her third year abroad as a visiting student at St. Anne's College, Oxford. Jessie has sung with the choir of Queen's College, Keble College and the consort of Magdalen College in Oxford, has toured to China with Schola Cantorum of Oxford, and is a choral scholar with the Oxford Bach Soloists. She has also performed and recorded with GHOSTLIGHT Chorus, the choir of Trinity Wall Street and the professional choir of St. John the Divine in New York City. Jessie has trained with Carys Lane and Rebecca Outram in Oxford and with Sherezade Panthaki at Yale University.