

Edward Beswick is an English tenor who is in his first year reading music at New College. He began his musical life as a chorister at New College for 5 years under the direction of Edward Higginbottom and Robert Quinney. In this time he took part in a number of tours of Europe and the United States, as well as appearing on several recordings.

Edward moved to London's East End in 2018 whilst he was studying and singing at Marlborough College. At school, he began leading and arranging for an a cappella group as well as developing his own voice under David Mattinson. Having returned to Oxford, Edward continues to be taught by Bronwen Mills, singing as an Academical Clerk in the choir. He particularly enjoys repertoire of French mélodie as well as twentieth century English works.
