

Biography

Patrick Maxwell is a nineteen-year-old tenor and academical clerk at New College, where he is a first-year history student. He was a chorister at Westminster Abbey for five years, with highlights including both Bach's Passions, the B Minor Mass and Christmas Oratorio, as well as numerous televised services. He moved as a Music Scholar to St Edward's School in Oxford, where he sang in and conducted all four Choirs and the choral society, winning the Douglas Fox Award of the Music Teachers' Association. Before moving to New College, he was a member of the Choir of Somerville College while at School, and currently sings in the Schola Cantorum of Oxford, the Rodolfus Choir and Luceat Choir. Patrick was taught singing and conducting by Neville Creed and is now taught by Bronwen Mills.
